Rabbi's Letter

by Margie Klein

Dear friends,

This past weekend, I celebrated Martin Luther King Day, and read the inspired writings of Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel, one of the leading rabbis involved in the civil rights movement. Remembering Heschel and Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., I want to reflect on a message in this week's Torah portion that inspired civil rights leaders and continues to inspire me.

In the Torah reading cycle during this blustery time of year, we read the story of the Israelites enslavement to Pharaoh and their liberation from Egypt. Throughout the narrative, Moses and God instruct the Israelites to remember the story in the future, and to turn our collective memory of pain and oppression into empathy and moral responsibility for people who face oppression and hardship in our own time.

This week's Torah portion contains the best-known expression of this idea: "You shall not oppress a stranger (ger), for you know the feelings of the stranger, having yourselves been strangers in the land of Egypt" (Exodus 23:9; cf. 22:20). As Rabbi Shai Held teaches, by ger, the Torah means an alien to where he lives, who lacks power and citizenship, and who is therefore vulnerable to social and economic exploitation.

In telling us not to oppress the stranger, the Torah does not offer a rational argument. Instead, the Torah appeals to our memory to stir our empathy and make us feel connected with those who are vulnerable. We must help the stranger because we remember the suffering and degradation that can face vulnerable people, and must help the stranger because we know her pain.

Though we may have heard this teaching so often at Passover seders and in synagogue that it seems self-evident, our experience of oppression could have led to a very different response. As Rabbi Held writes, the Torah could have said, "Since you were tyrannized and exploited and no one did anything to help you, you don't owe anything to anyone; how dare anyone ask anything of you?" Instead, Judaism chooses the opposite path. In remembering our people's pain, we also remember not to cause that pain for others.

Yet, it is possible to obey the command not to oppress without doing anything proactive in the face of the suffering of minorities and poor people, as I believe is the case in some ultra-Orthodox communities that have shut themselves off from the wider world after the trauma of the Holocaust. Where Exodus commands us not to oppress the stranger, Leviticus takes us one step further, moving from a negative commandment (lo ta'aseh) to a positive one (aseh): "When a stranger resides with you in your land, you shall not wrong him. The stranger who resides with you shall be to you as one of your citizens; you shall love him as yourself, for you were strangers in the land of Egypt: I the Lord am your God" (Leviticus 19:33-34). With these startling words, we have traveled a long distance. It is not enough to do no harm; we are mandated to love the stranger actively.

Finally, the Book of Deuteronomy gives us one more clue about what God wants from us in caring for the stranger. Here, the command to love the stranger is a form of imitatio dei, walking in God's ways. Just as God "loves the stranger" (10:18), so also must we (10:19). In other words, the Torah insists, if you want to love God, love those whom God loves. Love the fatherless, the widow, the orphan, and the stranger. And that means not only caring for these vulnerable groups, but also working to prevent the causes of their suffering.

With this view, we are better able to understand one of Heschel's most famous quotes, reflecting on his participation in a civil rights march with Dr. King. Heschel writes, "When I marched in Selma, I felt like my feet were praying." If loving God means caring for those whom God loves, then working for the rights of poor people and other disadvantaged groups is a way of expressing love for God, and thus a form of prayer.

May we all be blessed with the compassion to love the stranger, and to serve God in word and deed by caring for those in need.

Blessings,
Rabbi Margie

President's Corner

by Jane Greenstein

We recently conducted a survey of our Religious School families and I am thrilled to share that 100% of respondents rated their experience as "Excellent" or "Good" and that they were either "Very Happy" or "Happy" with their child's teacher. Many adults unfortunately do not have fond memories of their religious school experience. So we at Sha'arei Shalom have always had as a top priority to have a school with a rigorous, meaningful curriculum, but one that also is enjoyable for the children. To have reached that goal is a testament to the dedication and hard work of our religious school teachers (Steve, Abby, Toni, Lucy, and Sara), our school committee members (Lisa Clay, Sharon Ames, Sharon Prybyla, Lisa Freedman, Debbie Dolin, and Gary Weinberger) and our rabbi, Margie Klein. The current leadership also stands on the shoulders of those who came before them who helped to build the solid school program that we have today. If you aren't a member and would like to come visit our school to learn more about what makes us so special, please contact our school committee chair, Lisa Clay, at school@shaareishalom.org to schedule a visit.

Upcoming Services and Holiday Celebrations

On Friday February 28th, join us for a traditional Friday night service at 7:30 p.m. at the Ashland Community Center. Our grade 1, 2, and 6 Religious School students will be helping to lead the service with Rabbi Margie. As always, we also invite you to join us afterward for an oneg Shabbat.

We are currently in need of oneg sponsors for July 25th, and August 22nd. Please consider volunteering to host an oneg this year...it's easy, fun and rewarding to provide refreshments for congregants, friends and family after the Friday evening service so we can enjoy the warmth and joy of the Sabbath together. Hosting an oneg is a mitzvah, and your gift of time and effort is greatly appreciated! Please contact Jamie Sack at sack.jamie@yahoo.com or 508-627-0387 for more information. Thank you!

Religious School Update

by Lisa Clay

Wow February already! Despite the cold and snow, time is moving along. January was a full month of learning. Rabbi Margie was able to spend some time in the classrooms this past Sunday. The students love that time with her and are able to get all of their questions answered. Most classes keep an ongoing list of questions to ask her.

February is a short month with the school vacation but still some important things happening. See schedule below:

Sunday Feb 2: 10 am -Noon for grades 2-6

Tuesday Feb 4: 4:30 -6:00 pm for grades 3-6

Sunday Feb 9: 9:00-10:00 am Learners Service for grades 3-7, 10 am - Noon for grades 1-7

**Sunday Feb 9: 9:00-10:00 am Bar/Bat Mitzvah meeting for 5th and 6th grade parents

**Friday Feb 28: Shabbat Service with grades 1,2 and 6 participating - all students in these grades must attend.

We would like to thank everyone for their participation in the Hebrew School survey. We are happy to report that the survey showed that overall families and students are happy with 100% rating this year as "excellent" or "good" and 100% saying they are either "Very Happy" or "Happy" with their child's teacher. We are taking all responses into account in our continuous improvement efforts and in planning for next year. We also encourage you to feel free to give us feedback at any time.

Comfort and Caring Shawls

by Margot Podtburg

The Helping Hands Committee has introduced a new way that we can help one another during times of serious illness and challenges. A Comfort and Caring Shawl can be a thin scarf, a shrug, a wide shawl or a lap blanket. What makes it a comfort and sharing shawl is the intentions of the creator. Shawls are made with love and care by a volunteer within our Sha'arei Shalom community for someone within our community. They represent prayers for the recipient's health, joy and peace as well as hopes for comfort for the recipient. The shawls would be delivered to recipients either by the Rabbi or by someone with Helping Hands accompanied by a note explaining the shawl.

If you knit or crochet, you, too, can help by making a shawl. If you are unable to make a shawl, you can still help by providing a gift card so that those of us who can so that we may purchase yarn to create a shawl. Our hope is to have several shawls on hand in case of an immediate need, and then to replenish the shawls as they are distributed. We also have a newly created knitting circle (see below) who can help you learn to knit/crochet and can help you make a shawl for someone you know. If you would like help making a shawl or would like to donate a gift card for supplies, please contact Margot Podtburg at mpodtburg@hotmail.com

If you want to help her meet her goal, please visit her site to order bracelets or make a donation. ## Dror Leadership High School

This is a semester study abroad program for 10th and 11th graders which will take place in the lovely northern town of Karmiel. The American students will have their own English speaking classes within an Israeli high school in order to encourage them to create bonds with Israeli peers and understand life in Israel. Along with their academic studies students will learn Hebrew, Jewish History, Israeli Society, and take part in a weekly field trip as well as regular volunteering projects. Our aim is to have students connect to Israel and develop as Jewish leaders during their time here which they can then bring to their home communities.

THE WHIPPING MAN

BY MATTHEW LOPEZ

DIRECTED BY BENNY SATO AMBUSH

As the Civil War ends, a Jewish Confederate soldier returns home to find that only his two former slaves, raised as Jews in his household, remain. As they cobble together a Passover Seder, they grapple with a changing social order, newfound freedom, and long-buried secrets that threaten them all. This story of self-definition, discrimination, and the pain of being an outsider forces all three men to ask what their futures hold in a new world of freedom. One of the most produced and popular plays of 2012, The Village Voice calls it "wonderfully satisfying."
